CONTENTS OF VOL. I.

			Page
ALL FOR GREED.
Chapter	I.	A Small Town	23
"	II.	The Marriage Portion	28
"	III.	The Sisters	36
"	IV.	Martin Prévost's Ambition	41
"	V.	Poor Monsieur Richard's Riches	120
"	VI.	The Lovers	136
"	VII.	The Vicomte's Troubles	143
"	VIII.	Less than a Squire	257
"	IX.	Monsieur Léon	261
"	X.	The Feast for the Dead	266
"	XI.	Mademoiselle Félicie's Husband	385
"	XII.	Raoul's Distress	391
"	XIII.	A Prudent Young Lady	396
"	XIV.	The Bridegroom	513
"	XV.	The Bride	518
"	XVI.	The Litanies for the Dead	524
"	XVII.	Is he Mad?	641
"	XVIII.	St. Mark's Day	647
"	XIX.	Prosper's Arrest	653
Alpine Climbing			470
Armaments of the Five Great Powers			182
Army, Our, as it is and as it should be			600
Business at the Present Day			425
Carlyleism, Essay on			292
Charter, A Chapter on the			334
City Apologue			344
Cost of Coal			466
Cumberland Photographs			348
Decay of the Stage			173
Electors, The New			148
England's Place in Europe			275
Equality at Home			318
Ethics of Trades' Unions			47
Essay on Carlyleism; containing the very melancholy Story of a Shoddy-maker and his Mutinous Maid-Servant			292
European Family, The New Member of			402
Fashion in Poetry			693
Foreign Policy of England—England's Place in Europe			275
Fortifications, Our			438
Glass Houses			220
Great Powers of Europe, The, Military Armaments of			182

	Page
Havering Atte Bower	578
House of Commons—Probable Effects of the Reform Bill	148
House of Commons, The New, Whom shall we make Leader of?	531
Human Lignites	560
Hunting, Part I.	206
Hunting, Part II.	675
Introduction. By the Editor	1
Irish Church, The	564
Italy—The New Member of the European Family	402
Journalism, The Trade of	306
Langton, Stephen: A Chapter on the Charter	334
Leader of the New House of Commons, whom shall it be?	531
Leap, The, in the Dark	8
London Ruffianism as Measured by the Rule of Thumb	419
Madame Tallien: A Biographical Sketch	455
Magna Charta	334
Matrimony	732
Military Armaments of the Five Great Powers	182
New Member of the European Family	402
Our Army, as it is and as it should be	600
Our Foreign Policy—England's Place in Europe	275
Our Fortifications	438
Our Programme for the Liberals	659
Paris, A Sheffield Workman's Excursion to	195
Parties in the House of Commons, Effect of the Reform Bill on their Strength	148
Paul Gosslett's Confessions in Love, Law, and the Civil Service.—My First Mission under F.O.	582

PHINEAS FINN, THE IRISH MEMBER.

Chapter	I.	Phineas proposes to stand for Loughshane	103
,,	II.	Phineas is elected for Loughshane	111
,,	III.	Phineas takes his Seat	118
,,	IV.	Lady Laura Standish	124
,,	V.	Mr. and Mrs. Low	232
,,	VI.	Lord Brentford's Dinner	240
,,	VII.	Mr. and Mrs. Bunce	248
,,	VIII.	The News about Mr. Mildmay and Sir Everard	359
,,	IX.	The New Government	366
,,	X.	Violet Effingham	372
,,	XI.	Lord Chiltern	379
,,	XII.	Autumnal Prospects	486
,,	XIII.	Saulsby Wood	490
,,	XIV.	Loughlinter	495
,,	XV.	Donald Bean's Pony	503
,,	XVI.	Phineas returns to Killaloe	614
,,	XVII.	Phineas returns to London	618
,,	XVIII.	Mr. Turnbull	627
,,	XIX.	Lord Chiltern rides his horse Bonebreaker	632
,,	XX.	The Debate on the Ballot	738
,,	XXI.	"Do be punctual"	746
,,	XXII.	Lady Baldock at Home	752
,,	XXIII.	Sunday in Grosvenor Place	759

Page
Poetry, Fashion in 693
Poetry.
A City Apologue 344
A Surprise 691
Cost of Coal 466
Equality at Home 318
Havering Atte Bower 578
Secrets 172
Une Marquise: A Rhymed Monologue in the Louvre 709
Weary November 437
Present Condition and Prospects of the Turf 60
Progress 712

Racing—The Present Condition and Prospects of the Turf 60
Reform Bill—The Leap in the Dark 8
Reform Bill—Its probable Effects on the Strength of Parties 148
Rowing 319
Ruffianism of London 419

Secrets 172
Sheffield Workman's Week's Excursion to Paris and Back for Seventy Shillings 195
Shooting 546
Sovereignty 76
Stage, The—Its Decay 173
Stephen Langton: A Chapter on the Charter 334
Surprise, A 691

Tallien, Madame 455
Taste 92
Theatres—The Decay of the Stage 173
Tourist at Home 163
Trade of Journalism 306
Trades' Unions, The Ethics of 47
Turf, The—Its Present Condition and Prospects 60

Une Marquise: A Rhymed Monologue in the Louvre 709

Weary November 437
Whom shall we make Leader of the New House of Commons? 531

ILLUSTRATIONS.

To face page

"One Kiss before we part" 118

"You don't quite know Mr. Kennedy yet" 247

"I wish you would be in earnest with me" 375

"A well-born Woman can always do what is her Duty" 401

"I wish to regard you as a dear Friend, both of my own and of my Husband" 509

"Laura, would you mind leaving me and Miss Effingham alone for a few Minutes?" 637

"And do be punctual, Mr. Finn" 750